

Charlotte ACE Camp Highlights Aviation, Careers

Camps to be held at Carolinas Aviation Museum, Discovery Place in June, July

There is still time for students to learn about aviation at Aviation Career Education camps, sponsored by the N.C. Department of Transportation Division of Aviation and the North Carolina Airports Association. As many as 12 rising fifth- through seventh-graders can attend the Pilot's Academy June 17-21 at the Carolinas Aviation Museum, located at Charlotte Douglas International Airport. The camp will run from 9 a.m. to noon, Monday through Thursday, and from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Friday. The cost is $275 for museum members, $325 for non-members.

Students will engage in activities to help provide an understanding of the basic principles and history of flight. They will be able to view more than 20 real aircraft, from helicopters to an F-4 Phantom jet, listen to air traffic controllers communicate with the pilots, as well as learn how to preflight an airplane, a crucial step in the preparation of aircraft operations.

There will also be 12 spots available for the Ground School camp July 15-19 for rising seventh- through ninth-graders at Discovery Place on 301 N. Tryon Street in Charlotte. This camp will run from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The cost is $300 for museum members, $350 for non-members. This camp is designed to meet the needs of young people who may desire to earn their private pilot's license. Campers will be introduced to the basic science knowledge and skills covered by the FAA Private Pilot Test. Topics will include aeronautics, navigation, weather, aircraft systems, air traffic control and federal aviation regulations.

For information about the June camp, go to tinyurl.com/ckt3n7y and look under Pilots Academy. For information on the July camp, go to tinyurl.com/ckt3n7y and check under Ground School for aspiring Pilots.

For more information, call Discovery Place at (800) 935-0553 or (704) 372-6261 ext. 300 weekdays from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. You also can contact NCDOT Division of Aviation Safety and Education Specialist Tom Freeman at (919) 814-0559 or at tfreeman@ncdot.gov.

Anson County Teacher Will Share English Language In China

Ms. Lynn Gardelle, a teacher with Anson County Schools and who is an Anson County native, will soon leave for China. Once she arrives, Gardelle will spend three weeks teaching English during a language immersion summer program. The program, coordinated through Global Classroom Alliance located in Raleigh, is intended to bring American teachers to China to teach Chinese students in oral English.

Gardelle has been assigned teaching duties in Haimen, which is located two hours from Shanghai. She will serve Zhongnam Experimental Primary School in grades 1-6.

In exchange for monetary support of this experience Gardelle would love the opportunity to share her experiences with your organizations, students, or anyone who is interested in learning about other ways of life within the school walls of other countries.

Please contact her at 704-826-8866 or 704-694-8639 if you choose to make a contribution. Ms. Gardelle said, "Thank you in advance for your support. Your generosity will play a vital role in my efforts to explore education globally and bring those experiences back to my students and colleagues in Anson County."
