

Louis Henry Fogleman, Jr., 84, of Raleigh, NC, passed away on Tuesday, May 30, 2023 at Duke University Medical Center in Durham, NC.

His family will host a private burial at a later date.

Born on September 29, 1938, in Wadesboro, the only child of Louis Henry Fogleman and Jennings Ross Fogleman, Louis graduated from Anson High School in 1956 and received a bachelor's degree from Davidson College in 1960, where he was a member of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. He went on to obtain his Bachelor of Laws (LL.B) from the University of North Carolina School of Law in 1964. After law school he moved to Charlotte, NC where he eventually met his wife, Anne Dickson Fogleman. They were married on February 13, 1971, in Raeford, NC, Anne's hometown, and then resided in Greensboro, NC, where their first two boys were born. They moved to Fayetteville, NC in 1979 so Louis could help run his father-in-law Paul Dickson's newspaper and printing business. After spending most of his career as President of Dickson Press, Inc., Louis went back into the practice of law in 1996 and spent the final years of his career practicing with his colleagues and friends, John Shaw, Dougald Clark and Billy Clark. Louis and Anne spent their retirement years in Chapel Hill, NC before relocating to the Cypress of Raleigh in Raleigh, NC in 2018.

Louis was a member of University Presbyterian Church in Chapel Hill and an Elder within the Presbyterian Church. He was a devoted and caring father, husband, grandfather, brother-in-law, uncle and friend. More than anything else, Louis adored his family and spending time with them at their house on Topsail Beach, NC, where he enjoyed many beautiful sunsets. He had a great sense of the importance of education and life-long learning, which he instilled in his children, and was a selfless provider for his family.

Louis is survived by his wife of 52 years, Anne, and three sons, Louis Henry Fogleman, III (Carter) of Hampstead, NC, Ross Dickson Fogleman of Dallas, TX and Paul McEachern Fogleman (Elizabeth) of Raleigh. He is also survived by his grandchildren, Eliza, Drew, Charlotte and George, and brother-in-law, Robert Arthur Dickson (Victoria), nieces, Margaret Dickson (Eric Roehrig) and Susan Dickson (Jamie DeGraw), as well as great-nieces and nephews and numerous cousins who were like his brothers and sisters, and adopted cousins from Anne's family. Everyone will miss his dry wit and affectionate teasing.

In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to the Food Bank of Central & Eastern North Carolina, 1924 Capital Blvd., Raleigh, NC 27604, or the Alzheimer's Association, Eastern North Carolina Service Area, 5171 Glenwood Avenue, Suite 101, Raleigh, NC 27612.

Condolences may be shared at the home, 8581 Cypress Lakes Drive, Unit D110, Raleigh, NC 27615.

FBI Increases Ten Most Wanted Fugitives Reward

The FBI is now offering up to $250,000 for information that leads to the arrest of a Ten Most Wanted Fugitive. Throughout its more than 100-year history, the FBI has solicited help from the public to locate wanted criminals - especially those on the Ten Most Wanted Fugitives list.

On May 25, 2023, the FBI announced that the reward for information leading directly to the arrest of a Ten Most Wanted Fugitive increased from up to $100,000 to up to $250,000. In some cases, the potential reward amount may be higher.

"The FBI recognizes the crucial role that public assistance has played in tracking fugitives throughout the years," said Assistant Director Luis Quesada of the FBI's Criminal Investigative Division. "Raising the rewards for the Ten Most Wanted Fugitives will ideally garner additional public tips resulting in the capture of these dangerous criminals."

The FBI began publishing its Ten Most Wanted Fugitives list in March 1950 after a reporter asked for names of the "toughest guys" the Bureau sought to capture. A Washington Daily News article that followed - titled "FBI's Most Wanted Fugitives Named" - created so much publicity that former FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover decided to implement an ongoing list.

The first person named to the list in 1950 was Thomas Holden, wanted for the murder of his wife, her brother, and her stepbrother. He was arrested in 1961 in Oregon after the FBI received a tip from a public citizen who had read an article about Holden in The Oregonian newspaper.

Over the years, the FBI has apprehended or located 494 fugitives on the Ten Most Wanted Fugitives list. 163 were captured as a direct result of citizen cooperation. In the last five years alone, the FBI has captured eight fugitives from the list, most recently Michael James Pratt and Jose Rodolfo Villarreal-Hernandez.

Fugitives named to the list must be considered particularly dangerous to society, with a long track record of committing serious crimes. The FBI also considers whether national and/or international publicity would likely assist in apprehending the fugitives.

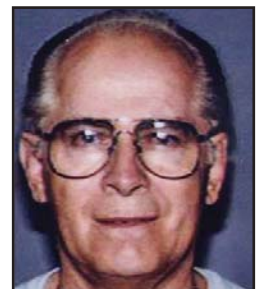

In May 2023, Donald Eugene Fields II became the 531st addition to the list. Fields is wanted for the alleged sex trafficking of at least one child in Missouri between approximately 2013 and 2017.

"There is no question that the growing threat of violent crime concerns both law enforcement and communities all over the country," said Quesada. "The reward offers of up to $250,000 is a significant increase, representing the FBI's commitment to getting these disruptive criminals off the street."

In addition to traditional media outlets - such as newspapers, magazines, television, and radio - the FBI uses digital and electronic technology to share information on the current Ten Most Wanted Fugitives. Their faces are on digital billboards across the United States, as well as on the FBI's website and social media accounts. Smartphone users can download a free app, FBI Wanted, to have the latest information at their fingertips.

If you have information to share about a Ten Most Wanted Fugitive, call 1-800-CALL-FBI, submit a tip online at tips.fbi.gov, or contact your local FBI office. If you are outside of the United States, you can contact the nearest American Embassy or Consulate.
