

ACS Read to Achieve Summer Camp

Each summer Anson County Schools provides students in first through third grades with a three-week Read to Achieve summer camp. Student campers receive additional reading instruction through small group, camp-style lessons. These lessons are designed to be fun and interesting, and they really get our students excited about reading.

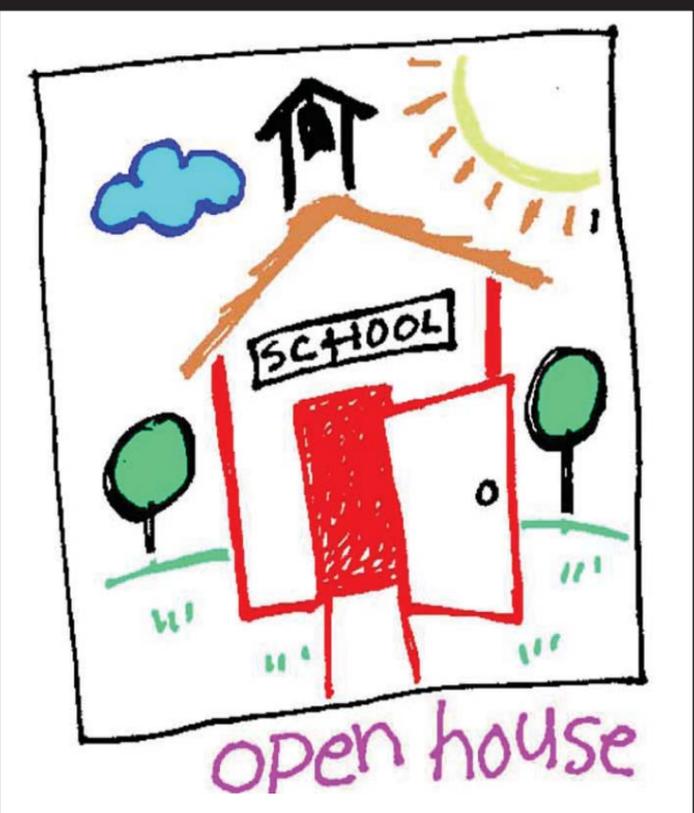

This year the Read to Achieve camp served over 200 elementary students from across the district, and was centrally located at Wadesboro Primary School. In addition, a new mentor reading program was implemented to further pique student interest in reading. Community members were invited to read to groups of students, providing a model for good reading skills while showcasing books that can be found in school libraries across the district. More than 40 community leaders donated their time and reading abilities to our students this summer – including Wadesboro's new town manager, local business leaders, Partnership for Children staff, Cooperative Extension staff, ACEC students, current and retired ACS educators, several district principals, central office staff members, and members of our local Board of Education.
