

Feeding the Homeless Dinner

Faith Based Center of Hope along with Harris Chapel and Galilee AME Zion Churches and Pleasant Hill Missionary Baptist Church will host their annual "Feeding the Homeless" Thanksgiving Dinner on Saturday, November 21 at Grace Senior Center in Wadesboro, beginning at 11 a.m.

Anyone in need of coats, sweaters, shoes or blankets will be allowed an opportunity to get whatever they stand in need for after the dinner.

"We are a blessed community," said organizer Vancine Sturdivant. "And I thank God. He supplied the citizens of Anson County with the heart and mind to always give."

If you can contribute (coats, blankets, sweaters men's and women's shoes or monetary donations) please contact Dr. Bernice Bennett 704- 694-6616, Ester Lindsey 704-848-8452 or Vancine Sturdivant 704-848-4412. They are also reaching out to the churches to help supply transportation. So many of our brothers and sisters walk.

Game Land Management Plans Now Available Online

The N.C. Wildlife Resources Commission has posted on its website the final versions of seven game land management plans. The Commission developed the plans to provide a management framework for these public lands that balances science-based conservation practices with public access and usage. The Commission solicited input at local meetings and online to provide opportunities to the public to comment on game lands management.

- Management plans are available for the following game lands:
- Green River, comprising 14,331 acres in Henderson and Polk counties
 - Holly Shelter, comprising 64,743 acres in Pender County
 - Lower Roanoke River Wetland, comprising 10,200 of state-owned acres in Martin and Bertie counties
 - R. Wayne Bailey-Caswell, comprising 17,788 acres in Caswell County
 - Sandhills, comprising 62,735 acres in Hoke, Moore, Scotland and Richmond counties
 - Sandy Mush, comprising 2,832 acres in Buncombe and southern Madison counties
 - Suggs Mill, comprising 11,044 acres in Bladen and Cumberland counties

Each management plan has general information about the game land itself, including physical attributes, infrastructure, potential improvements, and other amenities found on the game land. Each plan is the culmination of a broad array of input, ideas and needs expressed by land managers and public users of the game lands. The plans are living documents and are meant to change as conditions and conservation and public needs change.

The seven plans are the first of many that the Commission has been developing since 2013. Download the game land plans at www.ncwildlife.org and learn more about the Game Land Program in North Carolina.
