

Farrell Sikes Inducted into Chi Epsilon

Farrell Elizabeth Sikes was one of sixteen students at North Carolina State University to be inducted into the Chi Epsilon Honor Society on Sunday, November 13. Chi Epsilon is a national honor society for Civil Engineering. The society honors engineering students who have exemplified the "principles of scholarship, character, practicality, and sociability in the civil engineering profession." According to the Constitution and Bylaws of Chi Epsilon, the organization is "dedicated to the purpose of maintaining and promoting the status of civil engineering as an ideal profession. Its objective and purpose is to uphold competence, sound engineering, good moral judgment, and a commitment to society in order to improve the engineering profession."

Farrell is a junior in the College of Engineering at North Carolina State University majoring in Civil Engineering with a concentration in transportation and water resources. She is the daughter of Ralph and Melissa Sikes of Polkton. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Robert L. Davis and the late Dr. Robert L. Davis of Wadesboro and the late Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Farrell Sikes, Sr.
