• I think Santa's suit should be red with red glitter on it and some purple glitter on the red and a green and blue glitter belt. First, because it would be tick red cloth. It would be tick because it would be two shets on. Next, because it would look good on him because it is a good color and it sparkles on him. Then because it would not catch on fire it would not catch on fire because it is thick. Last, because it would be good for the weather because it is so thick inside the suit. Taylor PPES
